CHILDREN’S RIGHTS
PROTECTING KIDS. PROVIDING HOPE.
This is their reality. Help us change it.

Imagine living in 28 places by the time you’re 16. Imagine being shuttled night after night to sleep on a different couch. Imagine being abused by caregivers and no one believes you. Imagine that everything you own travels with you in a trash bag. Imagine being given powerful drugs without a proper evaluation. Imagine losing all contact with the siblings you love. We’re building a movement to make sure this is no child’s story. We hope you’ll join us.
Why I Care

Molly

Molly wants to put an end to child sex trafficking. Her home state of Texas is a major hub for this national nightmare, and she knows that children in the child welfare system are at increased risk of becoming victims of sex trafficking. She wanted to support an organization that works upstream to fix the root of the problem. She found Children’s Rights – and what she saw impressed her.

“Children’s Rights fights for a cause near and dear to my heart and I am truly honored to be able to support them.”

A Personal Stake

Greg

Greg Hecht—Principal Attorney at Hecht Walker, P.C.—and his wife Cheri share a passion for fixing our broken foster care system. They are the adoptive parents of two girls placed in foster care at birth. As members of the Children’s Rights Advisory Council they are actively advising and supporting our efforts to make lasting change for vulnerable children in their community and across America. Interested in joining the Advisory Council?

Marvin and Candice

Marvin Bing and Candice Chachkin are foster care alums. Marvin’s mother died and his father was in prison. Candice’s parents could not safely raise her. In just a few short months they lost their parents, their siblings, any semblance of a secure home, and entered into a revolving door of foster care placements. Both feel their lives were saved because someone finally cared enough. They are paying it forward as members of Children’s Rights’ Young Professional Leadership Council. It’s a great way to support our work and get involved with an amazing group of people. Interested?

Tyler

As a father of two girls, Tyler started paying more attention to news stories highlighting the plight of at-risk kids. That’s why he became a member of Children’s Rights with a monthly contribution.

“As a society, we should take a long, hard look at the causes of child maltreatment, and then decide, as a community, that we’re going to try to address and prevent those problems. Being a member of Children’s Rights is so easy. $5 or $500 — it will be the best money you spend that month.”

Alan

“By giving through a Donor Advised Fund, my wife and I are able easily to support those causes that are important to us, including Children’s Rights, which is tirelessly working to improve the lives of our least fortunate children. We feel confident that our money will be managed properly until we allocate the funds, from time to time, to organizations that we hope will help make the world a fairer and better place.”

Kids Helping Kids

Rocco

Kids across America are pitching in to help children in need. Whether it’s in honor of a special birthday or just a summer lemonade stand, you can help your children develop a family-focused event that raises money for Children’s Rights. We’ll set up a fundraising page to track contributions and send your fundraiser-in-training a special gift after the event.

With your help, we can change their lives.

Children’s Rights is expanding so that we can protect even more children across the country from abuse and neglect. To do this we need your support. Your gifts move our mission forward by helping us to design innovative legal campaigns that reach ever-growing numbers of children, build the capacity of our national advocacy campaigns, and practice good stewardship to increase our efficiency and ensure the trust of our generous donors. Your support gives us the flexibility to run a complex organization in today’s world, and communicates your personal vision of and commitment to a world where children are protected from harm.
Every day, children are harmed by America’s broken child welfare, juvenile justice, education, and healthcare systems. Through relentless strategic advocacy and legal action, we hold governments accountable for keeping kids safe and healthy. Children’s Rights has made a lasting impact, protecting hundreds of thousands of vulnerable children and we are poised to help millions more.

They are depending on us... and you.
